

In support of the Madison project:

I believe that, if executed successfully, the Madison project would breath new life into the Toronto Estonian community. By modernizing our facilities we can re-invigorate the youth and amp up community engagement across all categories (arts, education, food etc).

I would love to see a revitalized and modern Estonian food business emerge and draw in business not only from Estonian customers but also from the surrounding multi-cultural population. How wonderful would it be to put Estonia back on the Toronto food map. It could be a hotbed of activity that my generation has never seen in this city.

The centralized location is perfect for this project and will bring our community together with increased participation and volunteer involvement. I fully support this undertaking and feel immense hope for the future.

Paul Lillakas